

Dream	Person
Projector for hymns and readings	Robin Hansen
I think our church should have candy stores, toy stores, toy and candy machines in the hallways, 3 huge swimming pools and diving boards, fireworks, a castle with a moat and a drawbridge	Nina Powers
I wish we had Sunday school in the summer!	Nina Powers
A building where the community room and the sanctuary are seamless, separated by a roll-back wall; rebuild the present building but make better use of vertical space; consider a second floor for RE? I dream of a building that is airy, full of light and color.	Jane Danielson
#1. Create a space in which to worship the God of our understanding and serve others. #2. Seek wisdom through prayer and meditation about the path that will lead best to #1. #3. Use insurance $ and sale of land to rebuild a space on Pleasant Street that is affordable--otherwise too much of our energy stays focused on us, on fundraising, on building, and not enough on worship & service.	Bonnie Dushin
In the process of designing the "new church" I suggest we gather our "tenets as symbols" list with the intent of creating a piece of art using these symbols to "tell" the meaning of our UU religion. Example: flower petals = our variety of people. The piece of art could be printed or photographed to be on note paper etc. to raise funds and spread info about us.	Sue Ellen Damour
Charcoal sketch of the church done in charcoal from the fire.	Sue Ellen Damour
Patron Saints of Green Living--Article for the Recovery Team	Connie and Betty Wurtz
I dream of a church just like the one that has stood for nearly 200 years in this place... Chairs instead of pews	Mary Hildebrandt
This church has been at the heart of the Brunswick community. It is a visible symbol of our faithful community here for all to see. We need to be here in the center of things as we worship and work.	Chris Mitchell
I dream of the church of the future...whatever we decide that is.	Sylvia Stocker
Light, airy, single level as much as possible. Peaceful architecture. A place for the bell and Swanson window. Sprinklers! Clear glass windows. Good acoustics. Practical design--not a lot of money spent on superfluous "design elements". Use low-maintenance building materials. We are in the business of being a church, not historical building curators.	Steve Wellcome
Let's build more than a physical church--Let's promote opportunities to rebuild a closer church community including--for those interested--colocating our church with cohousing and other options that are sustainable for our membership and our planet. Small design elements can open new possibilities for us. But we need big dreams and conversations now.	Ed Pontius
I would like the church to stay in the same location	Marsha Pontius
When I came to this church I found the sanctuary oppressive in its décor and lack of direct light. I soon learned that the community is why I return on Sundays and want to be involved. So, even if we decide on salmon walls and a blue ceiling I will embrace the new structure as the home of our indestructible spirit.	Sally Horne
I dream of a building with more light--a conscious, green building--more sharing of joys and sorrows and open area to meditate that is open all week long. Integrate love and honoring of the earth into our services.	Joan Hollingworth

My hopes: (1) We stay at our site on Pleasant St. ; (2) We have a plan for a building we can afford; (3) We build a connectorgiving us street-level access and bathrooms which also makes better use of and improves Pennell. (4) We make use of existing plans and do not feel that we need to do anything particularly "innovative.	Steve Eagles
It's time to get rid of water problems and parking problems. It's time to build on the property we own off Rte 24.	Robert Whitney
I would like to see a spacious, light-filled church on our land near the water. A garden for meditation by the water.	Faye Whitney
A new building on Pleasant St. compatible with the other buildings around it but open to the sun and tied into Pennell House. I think moveable chairs rather than pews would make the sanctuary more flexible.	Nancy Meikle
I would like to see our church rebuilt on the same site --preserving that old New England feel when possible. Also, the Pennell House--can we consider taking that down and expanding the church on that land and build an all encompassing church.	Kathy Jaques
I would like to have a light-filled sanctuary, accessible, with a bit of the "feel" of the old church. And chairs vs. pews.	Julie Dahmer
The building ought to be at the same site. It should be designed in a very "flexible" layout to allow for unplanned uses as well as the "usual" uses. Movable furniture , lighting, etc. are aspects of flexibility. Making it flexible also allows the possibility to rent out the space for many uses or loan it out as repayment to the community that has come through for us.	Caroline Evans
Start meeting at Minnie Brown in August so it will already be familiar to some of us by the first "regular" service in Sept.	Ann Spencer
Save this church. Easy to get to. A lot of memories are there--the whole family.	Malena Stimpson
Have a bathroom and drinking fountain on the same floor as the sanctuary. Have the whole church welcoming to people with mobility issues.	Sharon Brown
Moveable chairs. Lighter color in the whole church	Middy Thomas
Simplicity, simplicity. Keep the reconstruction simple. I hope the candelabras given by Augotte Wright survived the fire and that the window given by the Swansons can be repaired and installed in our new space. Both items were inspiring.	Barbara Whitepine
I hope for a building that reflects our mission. I'm emotionally attached to the downtown Brunswick site but aware that a move to Gurnet Rd. would provide a wider "catchment area" and encourage growth. I trust this Recovery Committee. I hope we retain and grow and deepen our spiritual grounding in this process. Enough RE space. Accessibility.	Karen Foley
New green church at the same location.	Mike Michaud
Tear it down; fix it up.	Sue Michaud
Eye-catching in our location , flexibility, community use	Irene Chance
I want the building to take up the space that it is on now and connect to Pennell.	Susan Chandel

I hope our church will stay on its current site --visible and welcoming to the community we have shared for so long. Let's consider a staged building--Can we look forward to new RE space... accessible....safe.	Cathey Cyrus
I'd like to see the shards from the Swanson window recycled into a table for the Community Room. I would love to be involved in that project personally...or assigned to do that project.	Sienna Dode
Our new space will be handicap accessible and energy efficient.	Maryli Tiemann
A warm welcoming convenient religious home is what I wish for. I am sure it will be.	Jean Tomkins
My dream is a church that is diverse in age, race, economics, and sexual orientation, that spends its energies and resources working to make our greater community a better, more just place to live.	Anita Ruff
Concern--that we'll run out of money. Desire--that we try to use the current building extending footprint to include "bump". Willing to do physical work--painting, etc. to save $. Feeling of being more committed.	Bill Kunitz
To me a building is just that--a building. The real church is the congregation. I'd like to see us come out of this without a financial burden that detracts us from our mission. Maybe that means we need to think way outside the box. Maybe we rent. Maybe we partner with another congregation or organization to share space.	Dave Kew
I would desire to have the church in Brunswick as I have not only committed to UUCB but to the wider community. As part of the Working for Justice Group this connection to both is very important to me.	Linda Ellis
I would love to see us knock down Pennell and build the church on the whole property . I think we should sell Gurnett Rd. property to help us with costs.	Stephanie Bernier
Wherever, whenever we meet in our own building, let's remain a stronger than before UU presence in the Bath Brunswick region. The flaming chalice will never die.	Jim Michaud
It's not the church but the people. I would like that we keep it simple with the spirit of oneness.	Monique Sondheim
I love the church building as well as the congregation and hope it will be rebuilt.	Pamela Ericson
~Fears~Concerns~ That people will not be able to sustain the energy and connection necessary to move this huge project to completion. I hope we can hold each other in precious community for as long as this process takes.	Pat Harris
~Dreams~ Accessible bathrooms; a clean, bright, functional kitchen; eradication of that old familiar "summer smell"; flexible seating!!!	Pat Harris
My dream is that we will finally build a church that meets all our needs within the next year. Previous discussions on this topic have dragged out too long without anything to show for it. I think we need to set a timeline and move forward. For Congregation growth I hope we can accomplish this at once rather than in stages. We have 2 pieces of property in one location. Let's make the most of them.	Linda Mallard
Our footprint --lot size--is small. Let's think up and down. Can we have 3 stories? Do we need a high, vaulted ceiling in our sanctuary? Let's stay in town! Time for an elevator.	Bill Clark
I am a member of the UU Church of Grand Junction, CO. I feel strongly about the historical value of this church and, although it is "just a building" I do hope it can be restored to preserve its history.	Marge Oliver

I think we should stay in our building space . I believe architecture is a very powerful way to announce and solidify our beliefs. I believe Uuism should latch on to any roots we have and grow from those deep roots. I think we can retrofit that space and we should.	Luke Lamar
I hope we will rebuild on the current site . I'm open to a complete raze and rebuild, but I anticipate using much of the remaining building. Connecting to Pennell seems very important, with the connector housing an elevator, accessible bathroom. I very much hope we can retain a high-ceilinged sanctuary. A new kitchen in an extended part of the community room and new bathrooms would allow the community room to be larger, perhaps with no posts. I also hope we can raise enough money to bring Pennell fully up to code and safe.	Cindy Parker
I have changed from our efforts in the early 200's. We can make the most of our present location in the heart of the community. Space dreams: light; open to nature--seasons, colors wall space for art; easy flow from sanctuary-worship to coffee hour--same floor	Esther Palmer
Let's rebuild right where our church is now . It is central in downtown Brunswick and so is visible and available to any and all who might need it. Let's utilize sun light as daytime lighting--much or more like the Morrell Room. Let's replace the foundation with one that accommodates possible rain run-off. Use this opportunity to unite the electrical system in Pennell into one meter, cutting back on the number of minimum charges from CMP. Find a means of incorporating solar energy into our energy package, taking care that roof angles will encourage that.	Robin Hansen
My dream is for a building that will enable us to live our mission statement to the fullest possible extent. Comfortable seating!	Hope Russell
Dream: a building with space enough and flexibility enough for now and future generations.	Connie Wurtz
Stay here . Rebuild church with improvements. Take down or gut Pennell House and rebuild to be more functional. Sell Gurnett Rd. property.	Pat Gardiner
Acceptable space for handicapped parking. Flexible rooms/spaces.	Louise Hudson
Let us make a decision soon as to where to "rebuild". We should put the land at Gurnett R. up for sale if we desire to stay in downtown Brunswick. It could take some time to sell that land.	Erik Hansen
Avoid steps to enter or to enter interior parts. Provide hand rails where steps are needed. Provide space for the reconstructed Swanson window.	Nat Brackett
Thoughts on a new church building: It should be large enough for the entire congregation at one time. It should be beautiful.	Clark Hamkins
Ron and I have offered to help restore the memorial window. We have had NO response of any kind. Are the windows insured? Are you planning to restore? Is there a time table? Do you want us to get estimates? We have had offers to help and we do not know how to respond.	Ellie Swanson
Space big enough to grow the congregation. Some windows that allow in natural light. I dream that we keep our connections to each other and the larger community and grow even more.	Alene Staley
I want our new facility to be beautiful; to be air-conditioned; and to have a sanctuary-level bathroom.	Daphne Holden
