SUNDAY SERVICES AT 10AM

Aug 6 "Brave Enough to Say Hello"

Bree Candland*

There's an Arab proverb that says "one good word is enough warmth for a whole winter." It can be scary and even uncomfortable to put ourselves out there, even just to say hello to someone new. Imagine how a kind word or a shared moment can have a positive impact on someone else, though, and how that interaction might also benefit our own lives. Music by Grace Lewis-McLaren.

Aug 13 "The Sacred Universe"

Gar Roper*

Whether we believe in a God, or are inclined to atheistic belief, there is the sense of something more to the cosmos than human devices. What is that something that sages, prophets and we ourselves try to articulate. Does the idea of sacredness serve a meaningful purpose in contemporary life? Music by Larry Lemmel.

Aug 20 "Wendell Berry: A Life of Reverence" Larry Lemmel*

Beginning this fall the Adult Education Committee will sponsor a series of programs about Wendell Berry, the 83-year-old Kentucky farmer who is also a prolific novelist, poet, environmental activist, and cultural critic. Berry is not a Unitarian Universalist and has written little about religion, but he has a strong following among religious liberals, who identify with his major themes of fidelity, reverence, and personal responsibility. Today's service will preview our exploration of Wendell Berry and his relationship to Unitarian Universalist principles. Members of the congregation will provide short readings to illustrate Berry's burning concern for social justice and for the improvement of our flawed social institutions. Music by Paul Schaffner and Grace Lewis-McLaren.

Aug 27 "This Finite Earth" A musical service with Jim Scott*

Jim intersperses songs and personal reflections on a spiritual ecological awareness. Drawing on his own music and other songs of ecology, diversity, community and peace Jim turns the congregation into the choir, taught by ear and with an invitation to all to join in the joyful music. Come listen or participate. No experience necessary!

Jim holds that churches can offer the "spiritual response" so timely now, as "the spirit of life on earth is in crisis." Jim's uplifting songs provide the balance to the "wake up call," leaving participants with a vision and inspiration to take the healing into our own hands.

AUGUST WORSHIP LEADERS

Bree Candland—August 6:

Bree Candland is a teacher, traveler, music lover, and animal enthusiast. A proud alumna of Bowdoin College, she has taught social studies at Mt. Ararat High School in Topsham since 2001. She majored in Government and Legal Studies and studied abroad in Namibia in 1999.

Bree attended Bangor Theological Seminary in Portland and earned an MA in Theology in 2011, which inspired the implementation of two courses that are now required for all 9th graders at Mt. Ararat High School--World Religions and World Governments. Bree founded and writes whatbreesees.com, which is Maine's only independent concert review blog. She is on the Board of Directors of Johnson Hall Performing Arts Center in Gardiner, which is Maine's oldest opera house. Bree is busier than ever these days, having added mixed martial arts training to her already full schedule. She also adores her new cats Nelson Mandela and Margaret Thatcher, loves the beach, and stops to pet every dog in her path (after asking for permission, of course). She has attended UUCB since January of 2017.

MINISTER'S MUSINGS

Just as I am wrapping things up to go on vacation, I have received an appeal from the Northern New England District Chalice Lighter program. Steve and I have contributed to this program during our years in the Northern New England District. But I have been less good about publicizing it.

Some of you may recall that when our church burned the Chalice Lighter program awarded us two grants to help us rebuild. The grants totalled around $10,000 – all money raised from individual Unitarian Universalists in Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont who wanted to help a sibling congregation in need. Many of those individual donations were small, but small contributions add up.

Now other churches need our help.

Let me give you the words of the committee that awards the Chalice Lighter grants:

"The Northern New England Chalice Lighter grant program is committed to maintaining and expanding the capacity of UU congregations in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont to meet the needs of members, potential members and the communities they serve. A high priority is placed on congregations that are either expanding programming and ministry, or making critical renovations to make their spaces more accessible and sustainable.

"Right now, the NNED Chalice Lighter program is modest in its capacity to assist congregations coming to us for help. In the past year our grants totaled about $10,000. Almost all grant funds come from individual UUs throughout the region who commit to contributing modest gifts when we issue a "call" several times a year.

"We need your help to increase our capacity to help congregations like yours when they have opportunities to grow and increase their impact...It doesn't take much to grow. Twenty-three new Chalice Lighter members would increase our grant budget by 10%. Two hundred would nearly double our capacity. We can only do that with your help."

I know there are many good causes to which we can all contribute, and we all have to make our choices. I ask this, though: Seeing as we are direct beneficiaries of the Chalice Lighter Program, wouldn't it be great if our church offered some robust contributions so that other congregations could prosper as well?

You can contribute by sending your check to Chalice Lighter Program, PO Box 333, New Ipswich, NH 03071.

(And, in case you are curious, I am including information about the grants that have been awarded in the past year.)

Okay, gotta go write my own check now! See you in September.

Blessings, Sylvia

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

YOUTH GROUP NEWS

We are sad to announce that Hannah Cain, our wonderful Youth Adviser, has resigned. She is moving out of Brunswick to be closer to both school and her other part-time job. She loved her youth group kids and is sad to leave them. But, like the rest of us, she cannot be two places at once!

Hannah stepped with considerable ease, creativity, and skill into a brand new position. Over the past year she planned curricula and activities based on the religious education themes for each month. She was sensitive, observant, and thoughtful about the youth she worked with, keeping their interests and needs always in her focus. She did excellent work, and we will miss her. We thank her for the fine job she did.

Meanwhile we are looking for a new Youth Adviser. (See ad below) If you are interested in applying, please send a resume and cover letter to our Church Office Administrator, Shirley Bernier at uubruns@gwi.net or UUCB, Box 129, Brunswick, ME 04011.

ADULT EDUCATION

THE ADULT EDUCATION COMMITTEE INVITES YOU TO Build Your Own Theology

Starting in October, Minister Emeritus the Rev. Brad Mitchell and the Rev. Sylvia Stocker will team up to lead an 8-session program called "Building Your Own Theology."

This course may be of interest to new UUs as well as to experienced members and friends who want to explore their own religious beliefs. We will consider our individual spiritual journeys, personal ethics, making meaning, and how our beliefs require us to act in the world. By the end of the program we will create individual belief statements.

The course will meet once a month, from October to May, either on the first Sunday of the month after church or the first Wednesday of the month in the evening.

If you are interested, please contact office administrator Shirley Bernier in the church office or by calling 729-8515. Let her know your first and second choices for the timing of the program. Brad and Sylvia will determine when to facilitate the course based on which timing is most popular for participants.

Both members and non-members are welcome to take part.

CHALICE CIRCLES HEADS UP!

Another year of chalice circle programming has come to an end, and we now set our sights on the next church year. At our last facilitators' meeting, one of the facilitators remarked that she felt she had the best job in the whole church. "Where else," she wondered, "do you have a chance to really get to hear people's life stories and get to know them on such a deep level?"

I agree. Chalice Circles offer something very special because they are based on a philosophy of deep listening, providing all participants with the opportunity to speak, uninterrupted and without debate, from the center of their hearts. Facilitated groups with prepared topics make safe places to explore varying subjects from the vantagepoint of individuals' personal experiences.

Chalice Circles help us to embrace our Mission Statement. Each meeting has a spiritual component. The groups welcome all who are interested; at the end of a year, the groups re-form to open the door for more people to join them. Group members nurture one another during the year by creating an environment where deep listening can occur. And groups provide service to both church and wider community to help us engage in our commitment to work for justice and to care for the earth.

Starting in October, we will offer new our next set of groups, most of which which will run from October to May. We will also offer our snowbird Chalice Circle, which will run from April to November. The Chalice Circle facilitators and I are in the process of determining specific meeting times for groups. But, in the meantime, I want to give you a heads up so that you can plan to sign up when detailed information is available in September.

AUGUST CHARITY WITH SOUL

DOCTORS WITHOUT BORDERS

Doctors Without Borders /Médecins Sans Frontières (MSF) is an independent international humanitarian organization that delivers emergency medical aid to people affected by armed conflict, epidemics, natural and man-made disasters or exclusion from health care in more than 60 countries.

Every year MSF sends around 3,000 doctors, nurses, logisticians, water-and-sanitation experts, administrators and other professionals to work alongside over 25,000 locally hired staff. Together they run medical projects in more than 60 countries around the world.

In emergencies and their aftermath, MSF provides essential healthcare, rehabilitates and runs hospitals and clinics, performs surgery, tackles epidemics, carries out vaccination campaigns, operates feeding centers for malnourished children and offers psychological support.

When needed, MSF also constructs wells and dispenses clean drinking water and distributes materials like blankets, plastic sheeting and other basic necessities.

Through longer-term programs, MSF treats patients with infectious diseases such as tuberculosis, sleeping sickness and HIV/AIDS and provides medical and psychological care to marginalized groups such as street children. MSF was founded in 1971 as the first non-governmental organization to provide both emergency medical assistance and bear witness publicly to the plight of the people it assists. MSF is an international network with branches in 23 countries.

ACKNOWLEDGING MAINE'S INDIGENOUS CULTURE

AUGUST 16 @ 7PM

Mid-Coast Indigenous Awareness Group invites you to the last evening of its summer film series about Maine's Wabanaki Peoples.

First Light: Truth and Reconcilliation Commission (13 minutes)

For centuries, the United States government has taken Native American children away from their tribes, devastating parents and denying children their traditions, culture, and identity. First Light documents these practices from the 1800s to today and tells the story of an unprecedented experiment in truth-telling and healing for Wabanaki people and child welfare workers in Maine.

Wilderness and Spirit, A Mountain Called Katahdin (90 minutes)

This documentary explores ways of thinking about the wilderness and how people from many walks of life, past to the present, have found spiritual solace and strength in this mountain called Katahdin.

The film presents the many facets Mt. Katahdin: from Thoreau's own experiences there to Penobscot storytelling; from the annual 100 mile run to the many voyages along the Appalachian Trail. Interviews telling the story of the mountain's past and present, and scenic footage of the area, are enhanced by the original soundtrack.

GREEN SANCTUARY

A SCARY MOMENT? MAYBE. DID WE WITHDRAW FROM THE PARIS CLIMATE ACCORD? MAYBE.

The First of June, 2017, was a scary moment for supporters of climate change action. On that day, President Trump announced his intention to withdraw the United States from the Paris Climate Accord, an agreement that had been signed and pledged 3 billion dollars by President Barack Obama.

His decision to withdraw from the Paris Accord shocked Congress, the American people, and the world — our allies, our adversaries, those we support and those who support us. It seems to move us from leadership role in climate change action to a bystander. Paris City Hall was illuminated in green that night in protest to President Trump's announcement. Buildings in New York City, Boston and elsewhere around the world joined the protest.

I found the President's announcement distressing and decided to speak on it today to sort out for myself and the rest of our church what that means for us, the country, and the world.

I knew that 195 countries had signed onto the Paris Climate Accord. I heard then that our withdrawal would not be effective for four years and that we could elect another president by that time. I knew each country who signed had offered to present a plan — to voluntarily reduce its carbon emissions by whatever amount it found feasible and desirable, and that the United States had pledged to reduce our carbon emissions by 26—

28 percent by 2025 from our 2005 levels.

Why, if our own plan was devised by us and was completely voluntary, did the President say that we, or he, could negotiate a better "deal?"

Why did he say the Accord violates our sovereignty? I was, and am, confused.

I also knew — on my back burner — that the developed countries (China, the EU, the US, Australia, and others) agreed to help developing countries develop in a non-harmful and sustainable way.

And I knew that Barack Obama was able to sign us on to this without bringing it before the (Republican) Senate for ratification, because technically it isn't a treaty. It is an agreement/an accord.

I printed off a copy of the Paris Climate Accord — and read it: Turns out, it's a framework, a structure, to accommodate voluntary reductions in emissions, to tally them accurately, and to receive and disburse sustainable development aid to developing nations. It comes under the UN Climate Change Secretariat (See their emblem?) There are rules for voting, rules for tabulating emissions reductions, rules for signing into the agreement, rules for administrating funds, and rules for nations wanting to withdraw.

In some ways, it parallels Pope Francis' Encyclical, but it actually sets up a governing body and a plan global summits on the issue of climate change. The next summit is in 2018, possibly in Bonn.

I also learned on line that Barack Obama pledged 3 billion dollars to be dedicated to helping developing countries deal with climate change—the largest donation by any country. I wondered how he could do that without House approval. Where would the money come from? and learned that it came from already dedicated International Aid monies controlled by the Executive Branch — that is, the president, and that 1 billion of that has already been spent. I wondered if that money was the reason President Trump nounced our withdrawal.

I spoke recently to Senator Angus King, who said "No." He thought the decision was based not on money but on a general disbelief in human-engineered climate change by the President's political base. He thinks it was a bad decision.

Sen. King — and others — think that without our presence in the Paris Climate Agreement, India and China might decide to back out of their own commitments to reduce carbon emissions.

That's possible, but it doesn't seem to be happening.

Climate change—also called Climate Disruption—is such an urgent and universal issue that not many people stood around gaping and waiting for something to happen. And until 8 and a half years ago, our presidents didn't back action on Global Warming. Our cities did, and our states did. Back then, 400 cities and many universities had signed on to getting their emissions below the 350 ppm mark and keeping world temperature rise under 2 degrees Celsius.

Within hours of President Trump's announcement, things started happening. Former New York Mayor Bloomberg announced that the governors of California, New York, and Washington State were forming a coalition of US states that would apply to sign on to the Paris Climate Accord.

Soon, the group included 30 mayors, three governors, more than 80 university presidents and more than 100 companies, negotiating with the UN to have sign on to the Paris Climate Accord alongside other nations.

By the evening of June 2nd, 10 state governors had announced their intention to join the coalition: Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont, Rhode Island, Oregon, and Hawaii. On June 5, governors of Virginia, Minnesota, Delaware — and Puerto Rico joined in: 12 states plus Puerto Rico, including the two Republican governors of Massachusetts and Vermont. Elected officials of eleven more states, including Maine, want to join — nearly half the US.

In an interview, Michael Bloomberg explained: "We're going to do everything America would have done if it had stayed committed." By redoubling their climate efforts, he said, cities, states and corporations can achieve, or even surpass, the US pledge of a 26–28 percent reduction by 2025.

One of the US commitments is to contribute to the operating budget of the Accord's coordinating agency, the UN Climate Change Framework Convention (banner).

Bloomberg's charitable organization, Bloomberg Philanthropies, has offered to donate $14 million over the next two years to help fund the Convention budget. That figure represents the United States' share, according to his spokesperson.

It was unclear how the Coalition could sign onto the Accord. There's no mechanism for entities that aren't countries to be full parties to the Accord, according to Christiana Figueres, who until recently was the executive secretary of the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change.

Ms. Figueres described the President's decision to withdraw as a "vacuous political melodrama," and said the American government is still required to report its emissions to the UN for four more years, until our withdrawal is finalized.

But, Ms. Figueres said, the US Climate Coalition's submission will be included in future UN reports on the progress made by nations who signed the Accord.

And The UN Climate Change Secretariat showed the US Climate

Coalition a number of international organizations that work within the Paris Accord. There is also a non-Party stakeholder status that the United States Climate Coalition can take. (What a comedown!)

Will the Paris Climate Accord, its structure, its promise, fall apart without us?

Maybe not.

Draw breath. Relax. Breathe in hope. Exhale—carbon. Breathe in sensibility, breathe OUT outrage. Forget outrage: It's an intentional distraction. It cripples our ability to think and to act. Shrink outrage to the size of a walnut, to a dandelion fluff, and blow it away. Poof!

Then, we can begin where we are anyhow, having followed through on many decisions to change our way of living in our families, in our church, in our community, in Maine, on the Earth. We will not be alone.

UUCB CONCERTS FOR A CAUSE

LIPBONE REDDING

SEPTEMBER 9 @ 7:30 PM

Storyteller, songwriter, guitarist and voice-instrumentalist, Lipbone Redding revs up a party with his original songs that effervesce with New Orleans swing, Memphis grooves and New York City style. He puts on an engaging entertaining show for all ages and musical tastes. His unique style is informed by everything from 20s Jazz, Ska, Latin, Indian Classical, 70s Soul, and even Disco.

Lawrence "Lipbone" Redding has spent the last 20 years traveling the world collecting and recounting exotic tales through music and performance art. Despite humble beginnings as a New York City subway singer, Lipbone has released 8 albums and over 20 live recordings and now performs in festivals, theaters and concert halls across America and Europe. He also teaches workshops and collaborates with other musicians, dancers, and performance artists.

A one-man orchestra with no electronic effects, his natural human sounds of overtone singing, bass and beat-boxing, and his astonishingly realistic liptromboning are a must-experience event—as he weaves his stories with funky rhythms, catchy melodies, brash humor, soulful singing, and inventive guitar playing.

UUCB CONCERTS FOR A CAUSE

It's Official!

Fundraising Events for the 2016-17 fiscal year raised $8,940 for local charities. The very dedicated organizers of those events will soon have the opportunity to discuss which of the Charities with Soul to support and then make a recommendation to the board of directors. Fundraising Events (Holiday Fair, Auction, and Concerts for a Cause) raised $8,000 for the church budget and 100% of monies raised over that amount, $8.940, will be given to very important causes. Stay tuned for the final decision.

- Thank you to those who organized these events.
- Thanks to everyone who worked at one of these events or concerts.
- Thanks to everyone who provided food for one of these events or concerts.
- Thanks to everyone who attended an event or concert.
- Thanks to everyone who spread the word about and event or concert.

It takes more than a committee to make these events happen. We need the help of ALL church members to make them successful.

UNDER THE SONG TREE

SAVE THE DATE: OCTOBER 28 @ 7:30 PM

The acoustic union of three established Maine songwriters (Dan Merrill, Anni Clark, Lynn Deeves) resulted in such a positive response that in 2000 the trio recorded a CD, under the song tree LIVE. The CD clearly demonstrates their talents as seasoned musicians and songwriters, and their strength as a trio of performers who are passionate about music. In 2002, NH's Jam Music Magazine readers voted them "Folk Artist of the Year." Their concert features acoustic guitars, flute, harmonica, a variety of percussive instruments, and stellar three part harmonies.

Lynn Deeves is no stranger to UUCB. She has provided music for many of our worship services and Working for Justice events, and as featured performer at the Side Door Coffeehouse. After 17 years of singing in the top-40 club circuit, receiving Maine Female Vocalist of the Year, Lynn began writing her own songs with folk, blues, and gospel influences. Rich, soulful vocals combined with a sharp wit, and dynamic stage presence, have created a continually expanding NE fan base.

Anni Clark is part folk, part blues, sometimes pop, but all parts original. For over 20 years this Maine native has pleased audiences nationwide with her captivating voice, mindful lyrics, and excellent guitar playing. She has received Female Artist of the Year on multiple occasions.

Dan Merrill creates intimate, honest lyrics and soaring vocals set to pop, funk, acoustic rock, folk and singer-songwriter styles. During his acoustic beginning in the 90's, Dan won the coveted "Newfolk" songwriter's award at the Kerrville Folk Festival in Texas in 1995. In 2000, he joined forces with with the modern progressive rock band out of Pennsylvania, Simon Apple which yielded the band's first U.S. Top 10 single in 2005 - Hold Me [Like A Lover] written by Dan. He was also JPF (Just Plain Folks), awarded "Male Vocalist of the Year."

BOARD REPORT

In the midst of July at the end of a hot and sticky week I hope that you all have been able to find an occasional breath of cool air and perhaps have been able to get close enough to the shore to enjoy a breeze. The gardens are becoming rampant and the lawns are beginning to slow down a little. Family and friends have either come and gone or are expected and Maine is living up to its moniker of Vacationland.

Looking forward to the coming year and some of the events for the late summer and Fall. First, I want to assure you that Nicole and RE committee along with the Sabbatical Support Committee have done an excellent job of planning out the entire curriculum for the Fall while Nicole is on her very well deserved sabbatical. We all wish her well.

The board will be looking at a more comprehensive stewardship process with the Finance Committee and long range planning in coordination with all our church committees.

The Gurnet Road committee will be reinstituted to meet with individuals and committees which might have suggestions for disbursement of the $22,500 for improvements or completion to the church building. There will be congregational meeting(s) in the Fall to discuss and vote on the improvements.

The board has almost competed the process of reviewing all the church policies and will post the latest Communication Policy for the 30 day congregational review on the bulletin board across from the kitchen.

The UUCB is cosponsoring, with the Maine Veterans for Peace, two events worth attending. First "An Evening with Judith Sloan" on Thursday July 27th at 7:30 who "Along with millions of other Americans Sloan finds herself 'between a laugh and a hard place". And second on Friday September 8th the documentary "Is Anybody Listening" "A woman's journey to -- and across -- the soul-destroying chasm between veterans and others. A film about the power of love and connection." A documentary about the power of listening and helping combat veterans return to society.

I want to extend a huge thank you to our Concert Committee for all the wonderful programs they have brought to us this year and the funds they have raised for Concerts for a Cause and for the spectacular events they have for us next year. The first of which is the Lipbone Redding concert on Saturday September 9 at 7:30. This should be really interesting since Lipbone is the "King of lip-tromboning".
