SUNDAY SERVICES AT 10AM

Mar 04 "Peace Be With You"

Rev. Sylvia Stocker

In March, our children begin to study our sixth principle, which is about building a fair and peaceful world. At this service, Rev. Stocker takes up the challenge of imagining such a world and some of the ways we might go about creating it. Guest at Your Table contributions will be collected. Music by Derek Herzer. Stay after church to hear a noon concert by Derek.

Mar 11 "The Impossible May Take a Bit Longer" Claire Curole

There is an old saying that the difference between what is difficult and what is impossible is that doing the impossible takes a little while longer. Join us for this service about hope in the long haul. Music by the choir, directed by Heidi Neufeld and accompanied by Derek Herzer

Mar 18 "Life on the Fulcrum"

Intergenerational Equinox Celebration. The Equinox is all about balance, a spiritual pursuit if ever there was one. But who has a balanced life these days? How do you create one? Why does it matter? Nicole Boutilier, Claire Curole, and Rev. Stocker team up to guide all our ages and stages in reflecting on this conundrum. Our intergenerational services are lots of fun and meaningful for all ages. Pile the family into the car and come on down! Music TBA.

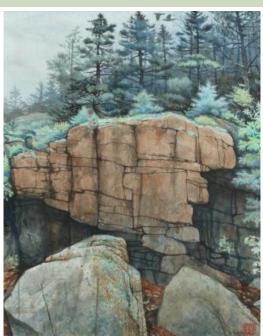

Mar 25 "A Shared Wilderness - of Politics and Spirit"

Guest minister Rev. Hnottavange-Telleen, worship leader (See Bio on pg 15). Music by Derek Herzer.

Mar 29 at 6:30pm Maundy Thursday Communion Service

Commemorating the Last Supper, the term "Maundy" comes from the Latin word "mandatum," which means "commandment." Biblical stories tell how Jesus gave the Great (or Summary) Commandments to his disciples at the Last Supper: (Love God with all your heart, soul, and mind... And love your neighbor as yourself. Matt 22:37-38.) Tonight our ministers join together to bring you this annual mystical celebration of community and connection, with particular emphasis on loving and serving. Come if you are a UU Christian, come if you're just curious, come to join and celebrate in connection and relationship. Consider it an act of resistance against a polarized and isolating world!

NEWS FROM THE UUCB GALLERY

Watercolor artist Jon Luoma of Alna is currently exhibiting "Landscapes from Maine, Newfoundland and the Galapagos," from Feb. 16 to March 13. The paintings use traditional watercolor techniques, but also reflect influences from Chinese ink painting. Luoma finds that the natural world, wild lands, and their plant and animal inhabitants provide continuous and inexhaustible inspiration in all four seasons.

MINISTER'S MUSINGS

Dear beloved congregation,

Today, February 17, I am at the tail end of my vacation. I hadn't planned to write a column for this month's newsletter. But, like you, I am reeling (again!) from the horrific and tragic school shooting in Florida on February 14. (Ironically, many of our Sunday morning helpers had participated in a safety training at the Brunswick Police Department that very morning.)

As I said at our annual remembrance of the Newtown massacre in December, I don't have words anymore. There are no words to communicate adequately my dismay, anger, and disgust. Now our young people in Florida and all across the nation rightfully ask what their elders are doing to prevent future occurrences. Rightfully they demand our attention and action. No more "prayers" from Washington, but change. Real change. One definition of insanity is to keep "fixing" a problem with the exact same "solutions" that haven't worked so far and are destined never to work.

We must change.

I don't have the answers any more than the next person does. But I do believe most American voters support gun safety. Even though the NRA has fist-fulls and more of money to throw at candidates and campaign ads, ultimately we have the votes. Let's take back our power and put it to good use!

In hope and love, Svlvia

2018-19 PLEDGE DRIVE

"LET'S JUST DO IT"

"Let's Just Do It" launches in March and will end in celebration of UUCB on SUPER SUNDAY!

In early March, you will each receive a letter outlining our financial needs for 2018-2019 and providing different ways to pledge for next year. PLEASE DON'T THROW IT AWAY, as to save on costs, it is the only mailing you will receive. We would love it if you submitted your pledge information earlier than SUPER SUNDAY, but on that day, we will be asking that each member to make a pledge. We are all counting on you to give what you are able to give, in both money and time to our church.

We have listened to the congregation, and to the grumblings year after year when we announce our annual pledge drive. Members don't seem to want or even read long articles about finances at UUCB; they don't really want to attend special events about pledging; no one volunteered to work on the pledge drive after multiple pleas; people don't want to have long talks about why they should support our wonderful church; and only a few people are happy with a home visit to secure a pledge. You all know that costs to keep UUCB going increase each year, so we hope our pledges do too. Each year, for planning, a bare-bones budget is prepared, and we ask everyone to support it. So, modeling after MPBN's single day campaign, the board is changing things up this year for a one day drive – SUPER SUNDAY – on April 15!

Of course, any church member may ask any board member for a detailed projected budget, and we are happy to discuss any of this with you. The final budget will be voted on in our June Annual Meeting. We just don't want to bombard our membership with details that are not wanted. The largest part of our budget is used for supporting our wonderful staff, and keeping our beautiful building running well. The major income to support this budget is through congregational pledges which we rely on to help us meet our financial obligations to staff, programming, and outreach, all to nurture our inclusive church community.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

UU PRINCIPLE #6 AND JOHN HAYNES HOLMES

During the month of March, the Religious Education program will be exploring our 6th Unitarian Universalist Principle: "The goal of world community with peace, liberty, and justice for all." In simpler language this might read as "Build a fair and peaceful world." Sometimes when I see this principle I think it's an impossible goal. I peruse the news online and see all that is happening in the world- war, genocide, school shootings, political divisiveness, the impacts of climate change, etc.- and I begin to wonder if it is even worth bothering to try to reach this ideal. But then I stop and think what the world would look like if no one was trying, if no one was working to bring injustices to light, to promote peace, to bridge divides. Oftentimes this type of news doesn't get the same coverage for a variety of reasons, so you may have to look harder to find it. But when I take the time to look into the positive happenings in our community or in the world, I am inspired to join in on the seemingly impossible task of making this world more peaceful and just.

One person who lived a life centered around working toward the ideal of the 6th Principle (though it was long before the creation and adoption of the UU 7 Principles), is our UU of the month for March- John Haynes Holmes. Holmes was a Unitarian minister and social activist. He advocated the work of Gandhi and introduced Unitarians to ideas from other religions. Holmes was a pacifist and believed that war was unjustifiable in any circumstance. He was part of a group of people who founded the NAACP and part of another group who founded the Unitarian Fellowship for Social Justice. Holmes was a controversial figure in that he was opposed to World War II and he eventually withdrew from Unitarian ministry at least in part due to the divisiveness this caused within the Unitarian denomination. I thought this last bit of information was interesting and it got me thinking about my stance on war. I'm wondering what your stance on war is. With family and friends, or even just on your own, consider your views on war and peace. What do you think- Is there ever a justifiable reason for war? Why or why not? If not, what might be some possible alternatives to war? If you think there are, what would those reasons be? What small actions could you take this month to make the world a more peaceful place?

SABBATICAL NOTES

I did many things on Sabbatical, but one area of focus that I'd like to share with you this month was that I decided to spend some time in consideration of race. When our church held meetings and decided to hang a "Black Lives Matter" banner last spring it prompted me to start thinking more about race and the experience of African Americans. My primary intention was just to start to gain an awareness what race means and how it impacts everyday life for African Americans. I grew up in a community that was not racially diverse and as an adult live in the same type of community. Although Portland and other areas of Maine are now becoming more racially diverse, I still mostly spend my time in places where everyone else looks like me. I haven't often enough thought about race and what it might mean to live in this world with a different color skin. I read a few books during my time away that I definitely recommend: Small Great Things by Jodi Piccoult, Between the World and Me and We Were Eight Years in Power by Ta-Nehisi Coates, and The Immortal Life of Henrietta Lacks by Rebecca Skloot. I also took a public health class at USM during my sabbatical and one area that came up repeatedly throughout the class was the impact of race on health. I learned that African Americans have poorer health outcomes all around than white Americans, even when adjusted for income (people of low socioeconomic status have poorer health outcomes as well). According to When the Bough Breaks (from the Unnatural Causes PBS series that examines the impact of place, socioeconomic status, race, and other factors on public health; https://www.unnaturalcauses.org), the infant death rate is twice as high for African Americans even when adjusted for status and wealth. The video showed evidence that the cultural impact of racism in our society causes enough ongoing stress that it has significant health impacts.

I came away from my readings and what I learned in my class with the disturbing thought that the reality is, skin color does matter. It's only because of the privilege that my own skin color has given me that I don't have to spend a lot of time considering race. The truth is that I don't think about race frequently because I don't have to bear the burden of worrying about what my skin color might mean for things such as being approved for a loan, welcomed in a neighborhood with good public schools, followed around a store, pulled over by police, or the cultural impact of racism on my health, just to name a few examples. So I am left with the question- What do I do with this information? This will be a question that I continue to explore and hopefully begin to find answers to. I think it's a question that we are all being asked as our church explores this topic through our "Black Lives Matter" initiative.

MARCH CHARITY WITH SOUL OASIS FREE CLINICS

Oasis is the only medical and dental clinic whose sole purpose is to provide free care to uninsured adults in greater-Brunswick. Services are provided by our network of 95 volunteer medical, dental, and mental health providers, as well as administrative volunteers. This includes eight medical providers, six nurses, 21 dentists, seven hygenists and assistants, four mental health providers, and 34 administrative and Board volunteers. Bowdoin College students regularly volunteer to provide administrative support, including extracting data from medical records, data entry, and social media support.

The Oasis Medical Clinic: The Medical Clinic treats a wide range of medical issues - from Hepatitis C to diabetes to orthopedic issues. We offer comprehensive primary care services to In 2017, the Oasis Health Clinic served 357 patients who came to Oasis for 1,410 visits. In 2017, our volunteers donated 2,442 hours of free care.

The Oasis Dental Clinic: In 2016, Oasis co-located the dental clinic with the medical clinic, offering access to high quality medical and dental care in one location. With this co-location, we have increased access to dental services from three evening hours every other week to twelve daytime hours each week in addition to the three evening hours every other week.

Dental hygiene clinics, specifically for preventative care, are provided three times per month. In just one year since the expansion, Oasis has increased the amount of free dental care provided five-fold. In 2017 FY17, The Dental Clinic served 182 patients for 719 visits, providing $315,307 in free dental services. We increased the number of clinics from 25 clinics in the year prior to opening our new dental clinic to having 102. Dental volunteers donated 692 hours of service to our patients. Currently, access to dental services is limited to Oasis medical patients, but we hope to open to non-Oasis medical patients in the future to meet the overwhelming need.

Community Prescription Assistance Program (CPAP): Since 2006, Oasis has provided assistance to uninsured and underinsured members of our community in obtaining free medications through pharmaceutical patient assistance programs. You do not have to be an Oasis patient to use this service. In 2017, we helped over 320 people obtain 747 prescriptions. These prescriptions were valued at $918,572.

GUEST AT YOUR TABLE

FEBRUARY 11 TO MARCH 4

REMINDER! Guest at Your Table contributions will be collected on March 4.

Every year our church joins other UU churches in Maine and around the country to raise money in a Guest At Your Table (GAYT) fund drive to support the work of the Unitarian Universalist Service Committee (UUSC). On February 11, the Sunday service called attention to the work of the UUSC); information and Stories of Hope booklets have been available (and still are) at the Interests and Concerns table across from the kitchen. We have been asked to read and discuss these stories as well as other stories we know about people whose efforts, no matter how small, have effected meaningful change in their communities. At each meal we have been encouraged to put our contributions to UUSC into a designated jar or other container. Just before March 4 we will count the money we have collected and write a check to UUSC with GAYT in the memo line. The checks will be collected on Sunday, March 4 during the church service. (If you cannot be there on the 4th, you can bring or mail your contribution to the church office to be turned in as part of the UUCB GAYT contribution to UUSC.)

In case you have forgotten...

UUSC is a 501©3 nonprofit associate member organization of the Unitarian Universalist Association that advances human rights by supporting more than 75 grassroots organizations in over 25 countries around the world including the United States. Grounded in UU values, UUSC works to advance human rights in three intersecting areas: Rights at Risk, Environmental Justice and Climate Action and Economic Justice. (For more information about UUSC, go to: http://www.uusc.org.)

...and

GAYT is an annual, denomination-wide fundraising and education program that supports the human rights work of the UUSC. Using the metaphor of the guest, we are encouraged to "invite" the people and programs that are making a difference into our homes, to our tables and into our conversations. These people and their work become our "guests" as we share their stories and offer them support through the UUSC.

A contribution of $40 or more earns you UUSC membership benefits; a contribution of $125 or more will be matched by the UU Congregation at Shelter Rock in Manhasset NY.

I'm a Good Person! Isn't That Enough? Monday, May 14th from 7:00 to 9:00 pm

We are excited to announce that Debby Irving, author of Waking Up White, will be coming to UUCB for a presentation and discussion entitled I'm a Good Person! Isn't That Enough? Using historical and media images, Debby examines how she used her white-skewed belief system to interpret the world around her. Socialized on a narrow worldview, Debby explores how she spent decades silently reaffirming harmful, archaic racial patterns instead of questioning the racial disparities and tensions she could see and feel.

This workshop is designed to support white people in making the paradigm shift from "fixing" and "helping" those believed to be inferior, to focusing on internalized white superiority and its role in perpetuating racism at the individual, interpersonal, institutional, and cultural levels.

Intergroup Dialogue at Bowdoin Friday, March 23rd at 4:00 pm

The Center for Multicultural Life at Bowdoin College invites UUCB members to participate in an Intergroup Dialogue, a facilitated conversation about race. Each group of 12-15 participants will be led by two facilitators, one who is a person of color and one who is white. Facilitators will guide participants through activities designed to help us discuss our own experiences with race. More information to come.

CONCERTS FOR A CAUSE

And the very next weekend!

Bill Staines

Sat, April 7 at 7:30 pm

One of the best-known and beloved singer-songwriters from the American folk music scene.

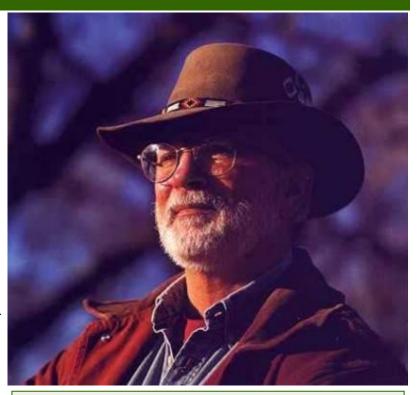

Bill Staines has spent 5 decades on the road singing his songs and entertaining audiences, starting with the Boston folk scene in the early 1960s. With his heartfelt songs, his warm, smooth baritone, his prowess on guitar, his charm and gentle humor, he is one of the most popular singers on the folk music circuit today.

Staines, whose music is described as "a slice of Americana," has appeared on Public Radio's Prairie Home Companion and Mountain Stage and puts on nearly 200 shows a year around the country. In what has to be the ultimate tribute for a songwriter, many of his songs have been recorded by everybody from Peter, Paul and Mary and Nanci Griffith to Glenn Yarbrough and the Irish folk duo, Tommy Makem and Liam Clancy.

Staines has recorded 26 solo albums, including two children's recordings. More than 80 of his tunes have been published in songbooks. Staines has also made his mark yodeling. He won the National Yodeling Championship in Kerrville, Texas, in 1975 and has become a perennial instructor of yodeling workshops. If that's not enough, Bill is left-handed and plays a right-handed guitar upside-down, with the bass strings on the bottom!

Staines writes songs with instantly memorable sing-along choruses. His now classic, melodically charming, enviably clear, lyrical songs, like "The Roseville Fair," "A Place in the Choir" and "River," are graced with home-spun wisdom on life, love and memories, and are decorated with beautiful, melodic threads and flowing, pristine lyrics.

On stage, Staines is an intimate, compelling performer, mixing in traditional tunes with his own contemporary folk ballads. His humorous tales of life on the road and observations of everyday people provide an entertaining blend of story and song.

Child of Mine by Bill Staines

Child of mine, you are the wildest wind and the dearest dream I will ever know.

Love's lasting light shines out from deep within this father's heart As I watch you grow.

Child of mine, you are the break of dawn and the brightest star I will ever know

Love's lasting light comes shining on and on from this mother's heart As I watch you grow

There is a road, and that road is all your own But we are here, you need not walk alone. To face, not fear each coming new unknown Is the way to lift your wings

Child of mine, you are the sweetest song and the greatest gift I will ever know.

Child of mine, where spirits fly above there is but one that belongs to you.

So let it grow and it will thrive on love For it is love that sees us through

You have the hands that will open up the doors You have the hopes this world is waiting for You are my own, but you are so much more You are tomorrow on the wing,

Child of mine.

BOARD REPORT

What a month!! With all that is going on nationally and internationally one's head spins. And this morning we decided the weather had thrown us one more curve. One too many, so we cancelled services rather than have anyone put in harm's way.

Our planning for the pledge drive, "Let's Just Do It!", is going well and we are only waiting for some final numbers to fill out our budget for next year. More on this issue elsewhere in this Messenger and we will keep you all updated as we progress.

We are still interested in any input parishioners might have on the alcoholic beverages policy either to change the policy or to leave the policy as it is.
